Dear Valuable Customers,

Re: Launching of ReBoxing

Iron Mountain is focused on securing and unlocking the value of what matters most to you in innovative and socially responsible ways. At every stage of your assets' lifecycle, you need integrated solutions that protect your information and help you uncover its value, so you can succeed in today's data driven world. This is what we do. Our comprehensive approach to information management provides you with full control of your physical and digital information so you can rethink how you do business.

With that in mind, we are glad to announce that we have launched our latest ReBoxing to better manage your Information Life Cycle, we've got you covered! ReBoxing is a comprehensive service that helps you

- Prevent information from being compromised due to wear and tear of the aging carton.
- Efficiently identify and review the content stored based on the retention requirements.
- Accurately track your inventory and information management.
- Safely recycle or repurpose your obsolete information/inventory.

For more information on this initiative, please contact your respective Account Manager or our Customer Experience Team at MyCustomerExperience@ironmountain.com and we hope to have your concern addressed.

Best Regards,
